

People and Communities: Approach and Evidence Base

Informed by research, and by our work with small and local charities, Lloyds Bank Foundation is working with six communities in England and Wales to come together to support the delivery of services to the people who need it most. This infographic explains the background and approach to our People and Communities work.

We know that many communities around the UK are facing a similar set of challenges.

Our approach is informed by what small charities tell us, as well as a wider evidence base about what issues are affecting our communities.

Some challenges won't go away, but we can change the way we work together to face them.

There is a strong evidence base around how all the local people and services in a place can work together to create change across the system.

If we work together in this way, we can get to a better place for all of us.

Our collective efforts will mean everyone's needs are met. We will learn together and share what we find out about what works, so others can use it.
